Floriade is the biggest flower show held annually in Canberra's Commonwealth Park. And the 21st Floriade, which was inspired by "films the shaped Australia", started last week. "More than a million blooms have been designed to captures scenes from Australian movies such as Babe and Crocodile Dundee," said Tara Morice, the Floriade ambassador.

The festival attracts more than 300,000 visitors from around Australia and overseas in spring from mid-September to mid-October each year, and is considered the most important regular event for tourism in the Australian Capital Territory. It is also called "Australia's Celebration of Spring."

Floriade started in 1988 as a celebration of Canberra's 75th birthday and Australia's bicentenary of European settlement. Due to the success and popularity of the event, it has run every year since with each year a new theme. It is currently the largest flower festival in the southern hemisphere.

Floriade gives great expression to public art. Each year new works are placed in the Floriade gardens. Some remain beyond the festival. Floriade also has musical displays with many live performances, cultural celebrations, artistic displays, entertainment and recreational activities.

Floriade has also held a gnome decorating competition with strong participation from schools. Many students across the country will participate in the competition and show off their talent with the beautiful flowers. (*Drawn from
