2. English Composition 70%

Read the following article carefully, and write down your reflections in about 250 - 300 words. What is your reaction to this passage?

The feared sky-rocketing of oil prices that is underway could deal a crippling blow to a global economy already reeling from the US housing slump and tight credit. This has an inevitable impact on every country, including Taiwan, Korea, Japan and many other Asian countries.

The reality of soaring energy costs could mean a darker outlook for the US and global economy, by raising the price of a variety of goods and services. The notion of a quick recovery in the struggling US economy would likely be put in doubt, and the rest of the world would suffer as well.

A global economic downturn would be the most likely outcome, led by a longer and deeper recession in the US and all other countries.

As a matter of fact, something has to be done immediately to safeguard the downturn of global economy.
